

Oh Yes They Did!

Bransgore Primary School's production of 'Jack and the Beanstalk' was jocular and well-casted. Cleverly directed by Mr. Aquilina, the pantomime was witty and ludicrously entertaining. The music added the sprinkles to the cake, artistically worked by Mrs. Mayall! The plot sparkled by adding characters like Little Red Riding Hood (Mr Jefferys) and the Big Bad Wolf (Miss Powell).

Emily Swift

The set design was very well executed and a clever mechanism gave the beanstalk an essence of actually growing. Surprisingly, the costumes and makeup were also of quite a high standard. They really put the actors into their characters. The sound effects and music contributed really well but it would have been just as good without them.

Lauren Haisman

The Foundation and KS1 children were intrigued by the cow, and adorably, kept on stroking it! The music added depth, with groovy well-known songs like YMCA and Celebration. You felt like you wanted to get up and dance! The teachers' acting was very believable even though some of them did a gender-swap! Most of them fitted what they were acting - even Mr Saunders as a pink, girly fairy! They all spoke loud and clearly so therefore even if you were at the back of the hall you could hear them.

Amy Towers

Everyone was so lively and excitable that when you got a chance to join in you leapt straight to it and got on your feet, dancing to the music. All the teachers had a fantastic laugh and I bet they would do it again any day! Overall, the whole performance was tremendous and a pleasure to watch. Most people were laughing when the cow came on because of Mr Trotman's hip action! Personally, I think the pantomime deserves four stars because of the teachers amazing acting skills and farcical voices!

Freya Hobson

My overall opinion is that the show was immensely amusing and of an amazingly high standard. I award the play a four star rating and feel an overwhelming sense of pride at the fact they are my teachers.

Emily Swift

First on stage was Mr Pretlove as Jack's mother. He was very funnily dressed which added to his great acting skills as a woman. Luckily, he was very loud and presented himself well. Next in the limelight was Miss Kelly who was cheeky Jack. She was very good at playing Jack because of her gestures and body movements. I also liked the fact that boys played girls and girls played boys, just like a real pantomime.

Emily Bailey

Bransgore Does Panto!

